PREPARE FOR WORST

MR. KIRK SAYS ALL MAY HAVE PART IN WAR BEFORE KAISER IS WHIPPED

Excepting a few of our older citizens, most of us have little memory of war, the Spanish-American unpleasantness having had little effect on the even tenor of our country because of the weakness of our adversary and the very slight danger, if any, of having any fighting to do which could not be done by our regular army and navy.

We have taken our blessings as matters of course and have felt so secure from being mixed up in any war which might involve the defense of our homes, that expenditures for the naval and military have been regarded as leeches on our thrift and industry and as having no other bearing on our lives. As the great Democracy and peace-loving nation, we have felt perfectly secure, and as we read of the terrible conflict in Europe we congratulated ourselves that we were the great isolated and neutral nation and would have no part in it except to profit from their misfortunes in the increased demand for our war material, and food stuffs.

With the declaration of war by our congress, however, we are awakened to the knowledge that we, too, are at war with the most powerful nation which ever existed on the face of the earth. Many of us do not seem to realize this fact even yet and take the matter very lightly with the remark that "Germany will be crushed and the war over in two or three months." They cannot explain how they expect this to be accomplished but "the wish is father to the thought."

I cannot see how anybody who studies the situation closely can believe that peace will come soon. With the U-boat problem unsolved and the allies making slow progress at heavy cost, and such men as Ex-minister Gerard telling us that Germany cannot be starved for at least two years, what reason is there for not thinking that we have a tremendous job on hand, if, indeed, Germany can be conquered at all.

In the face of all this we should bestir ourselves and consider what we, each of us, can do best to help our government and to bring this war to a speedy and successful conclusion. Our great President is doing everything in his power to arouse us to the need and is using every resource of the nation to this end. He has been most patient and long-suffering but when he must fight he is showing that he is a wonderful general.

Many Glendale boys have already enlisted in some branch of the service, and our women are doing Red Cross and Auxiliary work in the most self-sacrificing manner. Almost immediately after war was declared our trustees called a mass-meeting of citizens to take some action for the protection of the city against attack of mob, intrigue, or disturbance from within or without, and an organization of Home Guards was formed, amidst must enthusiasm—in fact the meeting was the most rousing and patriotic that I have ever seen in Glendale.

At a subsequent meeting officers were elected and since that time regular drill has been given twice a week. Although more than two hundred men enlisted in this body many of the younger men have not appeared for drill, principaly because they are or expect to be enlisted in the federal or state service. A large majority of those now active are above the age limit for regular enlistment, and the fact that they are willing to spend two nights out of each week to prepare themselves for service in case their country needs them, does not receive the general praise and commendation which it deserves, it seems to me. Most of these men, like myself, have never had or cared anything about military experience and are doing this only because they love their country and city and feel that they ought to be ready in case they are needed "to do their bit." It is sincerely to be hoped that they will not be needed, but as conditions are now, no man can tell what the weeks and months ahead are to bring forth.

Although our scientists and inventors are trying hard to solve the U-boat problem, we must not forget that the Germans, also, have some of the greatest men in these lines, in the world, who are doubtless striving as hard as we are, to neutralize the efects of our efforts and protect their submarines, which we are told, they are building faster than they can train crews to "man."

Unless we can find a way to rid the seas of these undersea boats, it looks as if we will have to send great armies to France or Russia, or to both fronts, in addition to guns, munitions and supplies, before we will be able to conquer the Kaiser. In that case, the Home Guards may have lots to do in protecting our cities and towns from Mexican invasion as well as from internal troubles, if, indeed, we might not be needed abroad. Who knows?

The matter of arming and equipping the Home Guards has been delayed because of legal technicality, but it is hoped this will be worked out in the very near future.

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

MEMBERS OF H. S. SENATE MEET—BIOLOGY CLASSES ON BEACH EXCURSION

Monday afternoon the first meeting of the recently elected members of the school Senate took place in room 129, every member being present. Although no important bills were voted on several minor actions were carried out. The time decided upon for each meeting was every Wednesday at 3:10 o'clock. Those who compose the new legislative branch of the school self government are William Balthis, chairman, Marjorie Imler, Lehman Crandall, Mona Butler, Miller Fischel, and Walter Beach.

Two former members of the G. U. H. S. visited school Monday, Jamie Shea '16 and Hill McGillis '15. Jamie is planning on resuming his course in dentistry at the University of Southern California next year, while Hill is just on a visit from Bisbee, Arizona, where he has been employed in the copper mines of that section.

About thirty members of the Biology classes, with Miss Fish as chaperone, are spending the day at the beach on a scientific excursion. A large truck, leaving Glendale at 8:30, was the means of transporting the youthful scientists on their knowledge-seeking expedition. They are planning on visiting the biological gardens both at Venice and Santa Monica, and they hope to bring home several rare specimens for their rapidly growing aquarium.

Both the A and B Juniors met Monday evening in the study hall for a very important class meeting. Several urgent matters were passed and a committe was appointed for the purpose of planning on the annual Junior-Senior entertainment.

NEW PLEASURE BOAT

Thoroughly equipped in the latest approved manner, a new pleasure boat, the property of Messrs. J. H. Fanset, Roger Brown, Jesse Smith, K. M. Barton, Dr. Fay Stone of Glendale, and Mr. Bollinger of Los Angeles, will be launched at Wilmington in the near future. The boat, which was one of the winners in the Catalina boat races, is now at the Barton garage, 1312 West Broadway, where it is receiving the finishing touches to its new equipment. Thirty-two feet in length, with a 5½-foot beam, a ninety horse power engine, and a carrying capacity of ten passengers, the new water craft gives promise of being a pleasure boat worthy of the name.

PATRIOTIC YOUNGSTER

A little story is going the rounds of press and pulpit which is of local interest because the little author, Gertrude Byrkit, spent her babyhood in Glendale on Belmont street with her aunt, Mrs. C. E. Byrkit. Little Gertrude, whose years number five, attends Pico Heights Methodist Sunday School and the lesson was on the Good Samaritan. Her version of it was extremely timely and was as follows: A man was going down the Jericho road and thieves fell upon him and robbed him and left him helpless by the road. Along came a man and looking at the poor man said, "None of mine." Another came along and said, "None of mine." Then a good American came along and helped the poor man. Such loyalty and patriotism in one so young, even if in mistake, was touching.

Nash Gilman is to be congratulated, the competition in the contest was keen and enthusiasm great.

WRECK NOT DUE TO PLOT

TRAIN CARRYING FRENCH COMMISSIONERS WAS NOT WRECKED BY ENEMY SAY OFFICIALS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

INDIANAPOLIS, May 8.—Federal officials have determined that the wreck of the French commissioners' train was caused by the breaking of a light rail by the heavy train, rather than by an enemy plot. The car in which the distinguished visitors were riding did not leave the track.

JOINT MEETING

CITY COUNCIL AND CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PLAN FOR RECEIVING PREPAREDNESS TRAIN

At 7:45 p. m. yesterday, the City Council met with the Chamber of Commerce in the latter's new hall, No. 1010 West Broadway.

Those representing the City of Glendale were Mayor Thompson, Trustee Muhleman and City Manager Watson.

Those representing the Chamber of Commerce were Vice-President Cowan, Executive Board members, Hartmann, Bentley, Coker, Braly, Harrower, Smith, and Secretary Church.

Vice-President Cowan invited Mayor Thompson to preside. Mayor Thompson stated that the City Trustees had discussed the coming of the National Preparedness Train, over the Salt Lake Route, and considered it a very important matter. But as the Chamber of Commerce is the proper representative of the City on such occasions, even more so than the Trustees, they had arranged to meet with us, and together make plans to receive that train and do whatever may be needful under the circumstances to welcome the National Preparedness train and the educators and others it will bring to Glendale Saturday, May 26th, and also take measures to have as many people present as possible from the surrounding country and, generally, make the most possible out of the occasion to advertise and otherwise benefit Glendale.

Manager Watson said the train would consist of 12 demonstration cars and would probably occupy the two blocks south of Broadway. Mr. Braly suggested it might be well to hold a mass meeting in the High School auditorium. This idea was approved, but Mr. Cowan said as the exhibits would be shown in the cars, it might not be agreeable to the visitors to take part in a meeting elsewhere.

Dr. Harrower suggested to have two large banners hung across the street, advertising the train and its mission.

Mr. Cowan moved that the Executive Board of the Chamber of Commerce co-operate with the City Trustees to do whatever was necessary in the matter. Seconded and carried.

Mayor Thompson suggested that a committee be appointed to go to the Salt Lake offices in Los Angeles and learn the facts and report back, leaving the question of the mass meeting to be settled after such report is received.

Acting on that suggestion, Mr. Coker moved that Mr. J. H. Braly, City Manager Watson and Secretary Church of the Chamber of Commerce act as such committee and report as soon as may be. So ordered.

It was decided to have the report of that committee made at the meeting of the City Trustees at 8 o'clock next Thursday evening, in the City Hall.

The committee arranged to start to obtain such information at ten a. m. this morning, Tuesday, May 8th, in the auto car of Mr. J. H. Braly. Mayor Thompson said that on Thursday night, also, they would take up the matter of having a mass meeting in the High School auditorium some time soon, to take measures with a view to promoting and conserving our food supply.

On motion of Mr. Cowan, this very important meeting adjourned, to be continued next Thursday night in the council chamber at the City Hall.

WALT. LE NOIR CHURCH,
Secretary Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

WOMEN MAY HELP

COMMITTEE ON CONSERVATION OUTLINES METHODS FOR FOOD CAMPAIGN

America is at war, whether or not we have personally waked up to this undeniable fact.

A study of President Wilson's new meaning for the terms "Selective Draft" and "Universal Service" makes it very clear that as women, as homekeepers, and as housewives, we are included in all his appeals and requests for devoted service in behalf of our nation. In fact there is one field over which we hold chief command—our homes.

Doubtless you have already seen in the press the numerous statements emanating from our national, state, and county governmental officials, all to the effect that—

"The question of feeding the people is more important than home guards, pre-eminent above the matter of having base hospitals, more far reaching even than the work of the Red Cross." This is absolutely true. Without food man dies and his labors end.

Many of us women have been enthusiastically doing not a little in the Food Production Campaign. That is all good and much needed work. There is however another side to this food question which must never be forgotten, and that is the proper care and conservation, for future use, of all the surplus products that are now being raised. We shall soon be at the height of our productive period here in Southern California when, locally, we shall have enough and to spare and shall then be very likely to forget that there will be other and less abundantly productive months sure to come for us and for others.

For the past ten years, in spite of all the cry of 'hard times,' and 'high cost of living,' we have each spring and summer, yes, and in the fall also, seen tons of fruit and vegetable products lying unused on the ground and decaying. This must not be allowed to occur this year. It will not take place in any future year if we learn the valuable lessons on eliminating wastefulness that this dreadful war is bound to teach us.

The question now pre-eminent is, "How shall we prevent this waste of our products that so many are now diligently laboring to produce?

It is every woman's patriotic duty and privilege to give a definite, energetic answer to this very important question. There must be a large amount of individual effort put forth by each one of us in our homes, but in addition to this in order to reach every family that should be reached and inspired to help in a solution of this problem, we must also have a thoroughly organized and well systemized united effort, grouped about a common center. With this in mind, and under the Campaign inaugurated by the county supervisors, there has been appointed in Glendale a group of women to take the lead locally in this organized effort. For nearly a month this committee on Home Conservation of Foods, has been earnestly studying food values, and methods of preservation of foods as they come from the field or garden. It has been industriously at work gleaning and tabulating from all possible reliable sources, the information needed to aid us in making a success of our part in this food conservation movement. This committee is now ready to begin trying to tell you how to answer the above mentioned question.

First, however it comes to you to each and every woman, with an appeal to rally to our honored Chieftain's call for service and to enlist immediately in our great army of Home Reserves, and then to lend your most earnest and enthusiastic effort toward promoting this campaign for the saving of food and the practice of true economy. No matter what your talents, you can do something. As individual women do not look to see if your neighbor is taking an interest, but busy yourself in this all important matter and then suggest to your friends and neighbors that they do likewise. As members of societies, clubs, lodges, philanthropic and church organizations, we need and request your organized effort in reaching others in this mighty effort to feed a large part of the world as well as ourselves.

Each week, or as often as the press can furnish us with the space, we shall endeavor to give you something definite to do for others and something to help you in solving personal family problems during the trying period upon which we are just entering, for let us fully recognize

COMMUNITY PREPAREDNESS

It is indeed gratifying to know that the citizens of the Glendale community have become so thoroughly interested in community preparedness. As soon as the news had come to the ears of our people that war had been declared against Germany, they immediately got busy and organized a home guard company. There were volunteers from all sections of the country, men of all ranks and ages, who stepped forward and announced their intention to aid in preserving peace in the San Fernando Valley. From reports in local newspapers published in other sections of California, we learn that the same patriotic spirit has been displayed.

While peace reigned supreme in our country, there was no need for marked patriotic demonstrations, and public speakers of pessimistic make-up criticized us for our indifference, and inferred that in case of war we would not be sufficiently patriotic to defend our rights. The time has come when it has been emphatically proven that these statements were incorrect, even if we look no further than the Glendale Home Guards, under the direction of Capt. Harry Schenck, to get evidence that we are indeed a patriotic people—people who stand ready to defend our rights at home and abroad.

NATIONAL PREPAREDNESS TRAIN

This train is now being operated over the lines of the Salt Lake Route through the states of Utah, Nevada and California. It is under the direct control of the Agricultural Colleges of the three states and carries out the wishes of the United States Government in its system for distributing information that will aid in the Nation's preparedness.

While the train has been rushed to its completion it will be thoroughly exhaustive in its work and will represent a vast amount of effort in the perfection of its outfitting and equipment.

The exhibits carried by the train, and the educational meetings to be held, all lead to one subject, that of inducing the farmers and owners of land to use every possible endeavor towards the increase of crops on land now under cultivation and to further urge them to materially increase their areas of cultivated soils.

Nor is the owner or operator of large acreage the only one to whom the appeal will be addressed, for the owner or occupant of but one single city lot will be urged to raise at least some portion of the food stuffs consumed in his household, thus relieving the great pressure that is sure to come upon the market centers of our country. To the boys and girls yet in their school days a direct appeal will be made to assist in this increased production by planting and growing something upon every available square foot of tillable ground.

The call of the Nation has come and every person capable of directing his or her endeavor toward doing something to meet the serious emergency of war must bend every energy toward this one object and, as President Wilson states, must become "a soldier of the commissary."

It is directly along these lines of emergency that this elaborate preparedness train has been organized and is being operated by the foremost development educators in the entire western country.

One of the urgent necessities at the present moment is an increase in the production of cereals and an entire car of the train is devoted to the question of soils, irrigation, dry farming and the general means to be used in accomplishing this increase.

Another most necessary advance must be made in the supply of meats, as our production along this line has materially decreased in the last few years. It will take three years to increase our beef supply, but hogs, sheep and poultry can show an advance in quantity within a few months. To accomplish this it is necessary to force the production of our forage crops while, at the same time, we give special attention to beef, hogs and poultry. Covering this most important subject is a car devoted entirely to forage crops, and a car showing specimens of the highest grade of live stock and poultry, with models for the economic storage of fodder and the housing of birds and animals.

A car devoted wholly to bean culture tells the story of another crop that may be materially increased, and this car will spread educational information bearing directly upon those types of beans specially adapted to arid and semi-arid lands.

The culture of the sugar beet and the production of beet sugar is exhaustively treated by a car devoted to this most important subject operated jointly by the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company and the combined Sugar Companies of Southern California.

A most important feature of the train is a car equipped by the Home Economic Department of the Utah Agricultural College, in which are thoroughly demonstrated the details of emergency Red Cross work and details of rendering first aid to the injured.

The entire train is electric lighted and many of its exhibits will be operated by this power, one of the cars being devoted to a demonstration installed by the Fairbanks-Morse Company which includes every class of electric generating plant, gas-driven motors, pumps and other labor-saving and efficiency-producing machinery, both for the ranch and home.

Included in the train is a U. S. Government exhibit, occupying an entire car, devoted to forestry and the preservation of our cattle ranges, all of which is of special importance if we are to bring about the necessary increase in our stock production.

The gasoline or oil driven tractor was extensively discussed at the University preparedness conferences in Berkeley and it was shown that these pieces of modern farm equipment are to be important factors in our endeavor for preparedness.

Accompanying the train is an exhibit installed by the Consolidated Wagon and Machine Company, showing the famous Holt Caterpillar tractor, operated in conjunction with John Deere plows.

The C. L. Best Tractor Company of California is exhibiting one of its latest type Gas Engine Tractors and the Avery Company of Peoria, Illinois, has sent a flock of Avery tractors across the continent to take part in this magnificent educational demonstration.

At every point these tractors will be unloaded and a complete demonstration given of their possibilities in assisting America to bring about a desperately needed increase in our food supplies.

A splendid corps of educators, that has never been equalled in a traveling party of this description, is accompanying the train to every point visited. There are twenty of these experts to tell the story of what is necessary to be done and how to do it. They are under the direct supervision of Dr. Thomas F. Hunt, Dean, and Prof. W. T. Clarke, Extension Director of the Agricultural Department, University of California, Dr. E. G. Peterson, President, and Prof. John T. Caine, III., Director of Extension, Utah Agricultural College, together with Prof. Charles S. Knight, Dean, and Charles Norcross, Director of Extension, College of Agriculture, University of Nevada.

Under the present conditions, it is the duty of every man, woman, boy or girl, to hear what these learned educators have to say on the subject of food preparedness and to heed their advice so that we may leave nothing undone toward securing the safety of our country and shutting out any possibility of our being placed in the position in which several of the European belligerents now find themselves.

The present is the time to act and the U. S. Government and state authorities are sending this train with its magnificent corps of experts to show the way whereby we may secure the utmost of protection for our families, our homes and our Nation.

This train will be at Glendale May 26th.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGNS FOR U. S. SOLDIERS

Every city and rural district in California will be included in a ten-day campaign for $125,000 which the Y. M. C. A. will conduct, beginning May 21, the proceeds of which are to be used to promote a program of social service, athletics, religious meetings, entertainments and educational classes for the soldier boys of this state. The Y. M. C. A. work for the soldiers also will include providing them with places to write letters home, tons of stationery, good books, magazines, motion pictures and all sorts of games and amusements.

According to the plans for the work, announced by the War Work Council, which is at the head of raising the funds in this state, there will be five Y. M. C. A. secretaries with each brigade of 5,000 men. One will be a general secretary, another a religious work director, a third a physical director and two assistants, one of whom will operate the picture machine.

Headquarters for the campaign have been established in the Los Angeles Y. M. C. A. and the state has been divided into nine diistricts, with organizations in each which will supervise the ten-day money-raising activity. Los Angeles and San Francisco will raise $30,000 each and sums varying from $1,000 to $12,000 will be solicited in the following cities: Berkeley, Fresno, Long Beach, Oakland, Pasadena, Redlands, Riverside, Sacramento, San Bernardino, San Diego, Stockton, Santa Barbara, San Jose, and Watsonville. Contributions also will be made by four Community associations, eight county organizations and eleven College Y. M. C. A.'s.

The War Work Council consists of more than 100 prominent business and professional men of California who are members and officers of the Y. M. C. A. or who are interested in the movement for the soldiers. Many of the committeemen are being enrolled as active campaign workers in the various communities and others will serve as speakers.

The full co-operation of the ministers of the state has been practically assured, it was announced. The Sunday before the campaign it is expected that all ministers will devote a part of their sermons to the vital human needs of the soldier boy and the ability of the Young Men's Christian Association to meet those needs.

The California movement is part of a national effort by the Y. M. C. A. to mobilize 1,000 of its trained secretaries for war work and to raise $3,000,000 with which to build and equip at least 300 Y. M. C. A. buildings for the enlisted men.

Personals

Mrs. H. Cunningham and family have moved to 432 South Louise St.

Miss Julia Bell is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Conrad, 1433 Burchett street.

Mrs. Frank Albright of Imperial Valley was in the city the past week visiting old friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sillers and daughter of Huntington Park are guests of Mrs. Grace Taylor of 1432 Burchett street.

Mrs. W. H. Brandon and two children, Harold and Margery, of Carpenteria are guests this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Lynch, 907 Damasco court.

Mrs. R. H. Beveridge of 441 South Central avenue is spending a few days in Santa Ana visiting Professor and Mrs. Frank E. Chaffee. Mr. and Mrs. Chaffee and Mrs. Beveridge were former Illinois college friends.

Next Wednesday night the Roharo club of Tropico will entertain with a dancing party at the Yeoman Hall on San Fernando road. The ladies are to be guests of the gentlemen, who are making plans for a praiseworthy affair.

Mr. Arthur W. Colby with his bride and his mother, formerly of Imperial are occupying the residence of Mr. James Barnett on Riverdale Drive. Mr. and Mrs. Barnett have moved to the Baruch apartments, 1010 Maple.

The Kensington Club of Tropico meets with Mrs. Mabel Craig at her home on 10th St. tomorrow afternoon. The entertainment feature will be a "swap party." Fancy work will be bundled up and sold for a small sum, and the buyer, if not satisfied with her purchase, may "swap" the article off if she feels so inclined.

Dr. Kate Black has just returned from the East, where she went about a month ago with the remains of her mother. Dr. Black is very much weakened in health through the sadness of her mission and the change to the eastern climate. She is now at her home on Kenneth road, where she expects to improve rapidly in the California air and sunshine.

Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, Secretary of Glendale Red Cross, reports that Mrs. D. L. Gibson, the popular leader of the High School Orchestra, has donated for the Glendale soldiers fifteen "Hospital Sponges," knitted by herself. This means a great deal of work on the part of Mrs. Gibson, and the Glendale Red Cross highly appreciates her patriotic generosity.

Mrs. W. D. McRea, 1321 Dryden street, entertained the Philanthropic Sewing Club with a charming luncheon last Friday. The afternoon was spent in sewing, and the following members were present: Mrs. Ernest Bode, Mrs. Harry Bullinger, Mrs. F. Frazee, Mrs. Murman, Mrs. Volker of La Crescenta, and Mrs. E. M. Witt. Mrs. Schuyler and her guest, Miss Hattie Depuy of Michigan, club visitors, were also Mrs. McRea's guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rockhold of 1430 Burchett street and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Robbins, formerly of Glendale, were dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Duryea and daughter in Los Angeles, Monday evening. The guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Duryea of New York, who are touring the country. Mr. Duryea, who is connected with the Stevens Duryea automobile manufacturing concern, is a cousin of Mr. Rockhold.

Mrs. Mary Sands was pleasantly surprised by a number of friends at her home, 1445 Burchett street, last week, the occasion being her birthday. As Mrs. Sands expects to leave soon for the East, her friends took advantage of the opportunity for a farewell shower, and left many pretty gifts to add to her comfort en route. The rooms were decorated with roses, and music was the feature of the afternoon. Refreshments were served.

Thoroughly in keeping with the spirit of Springtime was the pretty miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Arthur C. Brown, of 1301 Melford street, in honor of Miss Ruth Way of Los Angeles last Saturday afternoon. The rooms were prettily decorated in pink and white flowers, tulle and greenery, through which brilliant-hued butterflies were suspended. The pink and white color scheme extended to the dainty cakes and ices. The gifts, which were many and varied, were concealed about the room, and the little bride-to-be had the pleasure of searching for them to the strains of the wedding march. There were about fifty guests. Miss Way is to marry Mr. Veil Clair, and will live in Los Angeles.

Mrs. S. J. Mosher and two daughters, Misses Ella and Helen, attended the graduating exercises at Throop College on Sunday. Among those to receive their degrees from the college was Ezra D. Mosher, a son of Mrs. Mosher. The ceremonies which were of a patriotic character, were greatly enjoyed by all who were present. The Rev. Robert Freeman of Pasadena acted as the Chaplain of the day. In his address to the class, Dr. Scherer gave some startling facts concerning our country and its conditions; his clear, concise statements and advice will live forever in the hearts of the young men who were gathered for the last time as a class. The music for the afternoon was furnished by the college glee club.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Wray announce the birth of a baby girl, Sunday morning, May 6th.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hilbert, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Snell motored to Los Angeles Sunday evening to attend the wedding of Miss Esther Keppel.

Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Norton visited Dr. Frank Corwin of Anaheim at the Methodist hospital in Los Angeles Monday. Dr. Corwin is a special friend of the Nortons having been a boyhood chum of their son.

RED CROSS CONCERT

The Red Cross entertainment which was held in the auditorium of the Glendale Union High School, Monday evening was largely attended, the program was 100 percent interesting from start to finish. A full account of the many well rendered numbers will be given in tomorrow's Evening News.

MR. KLAMM RETURNS

Mr. John Klamm, 235 E. Broadway has just returned from a trip east where he was called four weeks ago by the death of a brother in Taylorville, Ill. While there Mr. Klamm visited his many relatives and old friends around Taylorville and Decatur and at Terra Haute, Indiana. He says the spring back there has been very cool and all vegetation is late, especially in Illinois. Most of the wheat fields in Illinois and all through Kansas have been plowed up and planted to other crops. Going through Kansas on both routes of the Santa Fe he had opportunity to see a great deal of the immense wheat fields of that state and he says there is a poor prospect thus far of any crop. He says prices are very high back there with less prospect of good crops than we have in California.

SAVE TIN CANS

The Committee on Home Conservation of Food has been informed that there is a great shortage in the sheet tin out of which cans are made for putting up fruits and vegetables, that the canning factories will not be able to provide as large an output of canned goods for home consumption as heretofore, and consequently it is absolutely necessary for every housewife, able to do so, to put up her own vegetables and fruits for fall and winter use. Also there will be a decided shortage in the number of tin cans that may be procured by housewives for canning purposes.

Canneries will not put in cans any foods that can be preserved in any other way, as they wish to save the cans for perishable foods.

This committee recommends that all women begin at once to save and accumulate all tin cans which have a removable lid, such as Crisco cans, Violet Shortening cans, Aunt Jemima molasses cans, etc. All of these cans together with all your stock of tin fruit cans which you have used, and perhaps thrown away in the past, can be used again for putting up vegetables and fruits.

Persons living in apartments and any others who do not put up their own fruit, are requested to save this kind of cans. When you have accumulated a half dozen or more cans, if you will notify Miss Eula Richardson, telephone number, Glendale 957 J, arrangements will be made for collection of the cans.

Suggestions for using again old tin cans having removable lids:

Any old tin can may be used again by lining same, top, bottom and sides, with writing paper. Cut a circular piece of paper for the top and also for the bottom of the can a half inch or more larger on all sides than the can's circle. Fit one piece on to the bottom of the inside of the can, arranging it so that the paper extends up the sides of the can a half inch or more. Then fit a straight, plain piece of paper around the sides of the can on the inside, allowing the paper to lap several inches where it comes together. The can is now ready for filling with any boiling hot fruit or vegetable. After filling, fit the second circular piece of paper on over the top of the contents and press the edges of this piece of paper well down around the edges of the contents so as to prevent the contents coming into contact with the can itself. Then put on tin can cover, press down tightly, and seal well around the edges of the lid with sealing wax.

Another method which some have used successfully is as follows:

Melt some kind of fresh grease and lightly grease the entire inside of the can with a thin coating of this fresh grease. Fill the can with the boiling fruit or vegetable, grease the lid, close and seal the can.

These methods have been used for years by certain housewives who claim they never have had a can of food spoil nor a case of ptomaine poisoning.

A warning, and a suggestion to the wise are sufficient. Better preserve these suggestions for future use.

MRS. KARA S. ROOT,
Chairman.
MRS. R. D. WHITE,
Secretary.

OBITUARY

Comrade B. F. Silfies departed this life on Sabbath morning, May 6th, from the home of his brother-in-law, J. J. Banta, 110 East Broadway, Glendale.

He, with his wife, came to Glendale four months ago on acrount of his health. For a time he seemed to improve, but it was not permanent.

He had lived in Pennsylvania all the early part of his life, having been born in 1844. There he was married and from there he enlisted in Co. A, Eighty-second Pa. Inft. and served as a valiant and true soldier during the war, having been honorably discharged at its close. From Pennsylvania he moved to Kansas, where he lived for thirty-six years and where he reared a family of eight children. He was converted and united with the Congregational church in his early experience in Kansas. He continued a faithful and earnest Christian life in this communion until the end. Seven years ago he moved to Washington, where he has since had his home and where two of his daughters still live, and he was hoping in a short time to have returned there.

He was an old-time friend and comrade of Comrade W. G. Collins who visited him often here in his affliction and administered comfort and encouragement to him. The Chaplain of the "Post," C. R. Norton, was privileged to visit this worthy comrade a number of times and found him in possession of a large hope of a glorious immortality.

In the home of his brother-in-law every kindness that could be bestowed was given and his devoted wife was constant in loving care until the last.

Our comrade was faithful to the last and went to the reward prepared for the chosen ones at the right hand of God, where he will reign with redeemed ones forever and forever. On May 8th at Tropico, Cal., he was given a true soldier's funeral, the G. A. R. Post No. 170 Dept. of California and Nevada, having charge, the Chaplain, C. R. Norton, delivering the memorial address. The body was sent to his old home in Kansas, where it will be buried by the side of the companion of his early life and the mother of his children.

SAMUEL PARKER IMPROVING

The many friends of Mr. Parker will be pleased to hear that he has so far recovered that he was able to attend the Sunday morning service at the First Methodist church and partake of the communion. Mr. Parker is one of the oldest if not the oldest church member in Glendale and is loved by young and old.

ARCHIE PARKER

Dr. Mellenthin of Hollywood, who through former residence in Minneapolis is personally acquainted with leading flour manufacturers, will leave in a few days to start a nation-wide propaganda against the use of pastry, as a means of conserving flour. She will speak before bakers' association in Chicago May 14, the Housewives League and Woman's Commercial League. The most influential audience Dr. Mellenthin will reach will be the Millers Convention in Minneapolis, which she will address June 4th. Dr. Mellenthin says it is a crime against the cause America is fighting for that so much flour, sugar and eggs are being made into pastry.

The Calexico cotton gins have closed down a month earlier than usual in order that all employees who wish may enlist.

NEW THOUGHT

"We are living in a very practical age, when increased efficiency is sought on every hand. If we know ourselves, if we make psychology an everyday study, we will know the source of power in our lives.

"There are two distinct types of dreams: One is that visionary sort of thing that the impractical, shiftless sort can see, wonderful dreams sometimes, but the dreamer lacks the ability of execution. What makes a dream visionary is not always the dream but the do-lessness of the dreamer. The second is the dream of the earnest soul who sees visions of perfection, or of future events because he is so open to the cosmic consciousness. When you close out the outer world and go in the silence to the Most High with your perplexity and receive assurance, that is the beginning of the wonderful power of the true dreamer.

"There must be those who can dream dreams. Dreams are a necessity. Visions are the pattern the world is carrying out. In this country of ours, our beginning was because of a dream of liberty, a wonderful dream of people in a land of liberty, free to worship God in their own way—unhampered in going to the source of Truth.

"In the Bible we find Joseph and David were dreamers who foretold future events from their dreams. A great Russian of modern times had a great vision, foretelling this gigantic upheaval in Europe. That was Tolstoy. He felt the pangs of the common people; he concentrated his thought on their need; he even worked in the fields with them, though a nobleman. He held that every human being should do some manual labor every day for the good of both body and soul.

"He dreamed of this great upheaval in Europe beginning in the southwestern part. He wrote out and sent to the three principal kings his vision. His dates were wrong, two years before the actual date of this great world war. He said in 1917 would rise a Mongolian Slav, a scholar and student who would grasp all Europe in his grip. Should this come to pass the time would be 1919, two years later. I predict that out of the socialists of Russia will rise this one who will align all the socialists of Europe under his banner and then will begin a new dispensation. This dream came to Tolstoy, a dreamer of dreams.

"What can we do to bring to pass these conditions? This is our opportunity to flaunt our banner of love—the greatest thing in the world—that will bring about this new dispensation. We can fight the battle right here and now in forever choosing the very highest and doing our very best. Get out in the universal consciousness and dream dreams of a whole world where there is government of the people, for and by the people.

"Then place under your dreams the sure foundation of truth and know in time your dreams will come true."

This closed Mrs. Beckers' lecture on "Dreams and Dreamers."

At the business meeting held after the service last Sunday evening, a social evening was planned in honor of Mr. Edward S. Jerome before his departure for the East. Mr. Jerome conducted the morning Bible class all of the past year until recently.

Mrs. Carmack offered her home and suggested a cafeteria style of dinner for the occasion. Definite announcements will be made Sunday evening.

BREAD OR BEER?

(From the Baltimore Star news columns)

The Methodist Protestant conference went on record for an indorsement of the movement to prohibit further grain being used in the manufacture of strong drinks. The resolution passed, to be send immediately to the President, is as follows:

Whereas, the manufacture and distribution of strong drink is controlled by our Government, and

Whereas, the President of the United States is urging the nation to practice extreme economy, and

Whereas, other nations are abolishing alcoholic beverages as a "war measure," and

Whereas, 16,400,000 bushels of grain are required for the manufacture of strong drink in this nation annually, be it

Resolved, That we petition the Hon. Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, to urge upon Congress immediate action for national prohibition.

To give additional emphasis to the resolution it was urged that every minister, lay delegate or visitor attending the conference send a telegram immediately to the President reiterating the petition that no other grain be utilized for the manufacture of liquor.

WARNED

"Henry," said Mrs. Naggles, impressively, "I've decided to take up Lecturing."

"Nonsense!" said her husband.

"I mean it, Henry. I have talents that require a wider scope than that afforded by the domestic circle. My mind is quite made up."

"Well, my dear, if you will, you will," he said resignedly.

"But I'll tell you one thing. You'll never get the public to sit up till one and two o'clock to listen to you, the way I do."

the fact that this war will not be of short duration and it is very likely to tax all our resources and all our energies, material and spiritual, to the very limit of endurance before peace comes. It behooves us women to diligntly and sanely make a "good ready," and thus to help fight our nation's battles with a peaceful warfare, persistent, determined and unconquerable.

The following is an outline of your committee's initial Plan of Work. Other items and methods will be taken up as the demand requires.

Plan of work of committee on home conservation of foods and elimination of waste, locally designated as Committee of Food Values, and Canning and Preserving of Fruits and Vegetables:

1. Reach and Interest, through public speakers, or otherwise, all organizations of women, such as Clubs, Parent Teachers' Associations, Churches, and Philanthropic Societies, and enforce upon them the great necessity and importance of reaching every woman and of enlisting her in this needy work for her own and for others.

2. Urge every housewife to begin at once to prepare for her own study and use a Reference Scrap Book.

3. Everywhere possible arrange for Practical Demonstration Class Work by Home Talent—

a. In bread making.

b. In canning, etc., before groups of women unversed in these matters.

4. Secure and circulate practical and economical recipes—

a. On bread making, both fermented and unfermented bread.

b. On canning vegetables.

c. On canning and preserving fruits, with and without sugar.

d. On methods for home drying of various fruits and vegetables.

e. On canning poultry, pigeons, and rabbits.

f. On preserving eggs for winter use.

5. Observe and circulate, in advance, information as to what season of the year, or time of the month, various fruits are ripening and what vegetables are maturing and just when they can be best and most economically canned, or dried.

6. Urge the saving and collection of tin cans and fruit baskets.

(See another article for explanation relative to this.

7. Recommend the use and of helpful literature on home care, preservation and use of foods.

8. Prepare, for neighborhood use and distribution, an economical and well-balanced, suggestive daily menu for a week.

9. Secure and circulate information relative to construction and use of home-made fireless cookers, and iceless coolers.

10. Discourage the use of tea and coffee, and all intoxicating drinks, and encourage a greater and more regular daily use of water and milk.

11. Recommend a list of accredited speakers to answer calls for Short Talks before and and all women's organizations.

12. Gather information as to Food Value of Common Foods, and recommend substitutes for present higher priced articles of diet. Together with suggested recipes for preparing same.

13. Through the press, keep the public informed of our work and its progress.

MISS BREHM SPEAKS

Those who attended the Presbyterian church Sunday morning were privileged to enjoy a service of much interest and profit. In his opening remarks the pastor, Dr. Edmonds, said there were but few who knew of, and understood how many and varied were the lines of work, propagated and supported by the Church General Assembly Board, and that these would be presented to the local church from time to time. One of these is the important work for temperance sustained and supported by the Assembly Board and that would be presented this morning by their national representative of the Board, Miss Marie E. Brehm, now of Long Beach.

In introducing Miss Brehm he spoke of her international reputation as a speaker and her strong and earnest advocacy of the cause of prohibition for the state, the nation and the world. He paid her a high compliment saying, of the various speakers that he had heard, and they were many, Miss Brehm excelled them all in her intellectual and scientific putting of the truth on this question. Miss Brehm is not a stranger, she spoke for us two years ago, and is a friend.

In part Miss Brehm said, "I praise God that I belong to a church that for over 100 years has stood for temperance and against the liquor traffic."

In the latter part of 1700, Dr. Benjamin Rush wrote his celebrated essays on "The Effects of Ardent Spirit on Mind and Body."

He presented 1,000 copies of these to the Presbyterian General Assembly Board for general distribution, and through the influence of the work of Dr. Rush the Presbyterian Assembly took up the cause of special temperance work and from that time to this has stood bravely in the fight without any compromise.

She spoke eloquently of the condition of the world today, and of our nation in the most crucial hour of its history, and showed that the United States is responsible for much of the deplorable results from the traffic in foreign lands.

Speaking of a world's map on temperance said she was surprised to see that the blackest spot on it was not Africa but America; a greater portion of our country is under the tyranny of alcohol than any other land. She scathingly contrasted the decisive action of Russia in cutting out the drink, Vodka, in twenty-four hours, as against the compromising way in which California dealt with it in its two amendments of the last campaign, so fearful of not giving the liquor dealer time enough. Twenty-four hours was all the time Russia gave. It was not alone the Czar, but the people who demanded it, after an agitation and education led by prominent men and women for several years.

She plead with California people to demand of our next legislature a "bone dry" amendment, one single proposition and no compromise, for their campaign. Spoke of the waste of grain and of manhood stating that of the 160,000 men called for the army in 1914 only 22 per cent were fit; the remaining 88 per cent were rejected because they could not measure up to the standard physically. Unfit because of tobacco heart, and disease engendered by alcoholic drinks. In contrast spoke of an incident that occurred at a banquet of the International Anti-Alcohol Congress, in London, of which she was a member. Royalty was there, among them the Crown Prince of Sweden. He was called on for a speech and she wondered what he could say for temperance. He rose and in his fine young manhod said, "I thank God that from my earliest youth I was brought up by Christian parents who taught me to abstain from all intoxicating drinks and from tobacco. And I can truthfully say to this day neither drink nor tobacco has ever touched my lips." She plead for the little children, who have a right to clean environments, for the home, the Sunday school and all the great interests that make for universal welfare, but are blighted and ruined by the unrighteous liquor traffic. She plead with all to do their utmost to bring about absolute national prohibition.

Stepping to one side and taking up a large flag, Dr. Edmonds spoke of the blot that has marred "Old Glory," so long, and the shame that it is allowed. Spoke of the disgrace that it should be upheld by drunken soldiery. Said, that a few days ago in Los Angeles, he saw a band of soldiers in their khaki uniforms staggering into a saloon uttering profane and unmentionable language. Then, carressing the flag, in thrilling tones he cried, "If you care nothing for the boys across the water in Heaven's name do what and all you can to save the boys of California and Glendale from such temptations. Said that cards would be given out at the door petitioning President Wilson to save 12,000,000 loaves of bread daily by a prohibition war measure, and that every 'decent, not to say Christian,' person ought to sign this petition. (Card.)

To President Woodrow Wilson

The undersigned, a citizen of California, strongly urges that you recommend the passage by Congress of a national war prohibition measure. It will save grain equivalent to 12,000,000 loaves of bread a day, which is now being converted into intoxicating liquors while food shortage threatens; it will promote material efficiency in the army, shops and farms; it will greatly facilitate maintenance of law and order, and it will protect our youth in military service from the grave menace of intemperance and those diseases of which a high percentage is traced to drinking.

RAINBOW SHOWER FOR MISS ADAMS

One of the prettiest bridal showers in this season of so many budding brides-to-be, was given last night by Mrs. Patterson, 1463 Riverdale Drive, in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Emma Adams, 1450 Ivy St.

The decorations were carefully carried out in rainbows and rainbow colors, even to the rainbow-hued sweet peas that adorned the center of the table.

The gifts were of linen, and the guests included the members of Miss Adam's Sunday School class.

A delicious supper of salad, sandwiches, cake and ices was served.

Games and music were the features of the evening.

EASILY ACCOUNTED FOR

Wife—I used to like the smell of cigar smoke before we were married; but I don't now.

Hub—Well, you see, my dear, I could afford to buy quite a different brand before we were married.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

The Friend—The doctor told me they kept you alive for eight days on brandy and milk.

The Sub—Just my luck! I was unconscious the whole time.—London Opinion.

DON'T QUESTION THE MOTIVE

(From the Springfield Union)

It is recalled with some levity that the last time Colonel Roosevelt raised a division it was in the Republican party, and it resulted in the election of President Wilson. But it is a different kind of division he is now seeking authority to raise and he is applying himself to this object with a patriotism and persistency that command admiration.

THAT'S DIFFERENT

"There's no use setting your cap for Mr. Gotrox, dear. He's an old woman hater."

"Yes; but I'm a young woman."

In the daily routine of life you ask of those with whom you come in contact both honesty and fairness of treatment.

More so, than ever, do you need such help during the sorrows of bereavement. Then, as at no other time, you ask and have a right to expect conscientious service—the kind "you" yourself would give were you able to do so.

You ask and expect an impressive service, free of needless expense, yet fitting the occasion.

In using Scovern-Letton-Frey Co. service either in our mortuary, at the church or in your own home, you will find all these requirements met—quietly, restfully and in good taste.
